County Votes on Bond Issue Tuesday

Hempstead County voters go to the polls Tuesday to decide on the issue of $450,000 in bonds under provision of Act 9 to help Standard Generator Service expand its local plant and hire an additional 250 persons.

Under Act 9 no tax is involved and the bonds are underwritten by the private industry which is being helped. The same plan was used for the Delight Egg Co. in the sum of $245,000 and the measure passed overwhelmingly in 1962.

It is calculated by experts that 150 new jobs would bring into the County $600,000 per year in new income.

The polls will open at 8 a.m. throughout the County and close at 7:30 p.m. Everyone is urged to vote.

Cold Wave to Spread Over All Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
All of Arkansas will be shivering under cold wave conditions by tonight as a cold front moves across the state.

Lows tonight are expected to range in the low teens in the north to the upper teens and low 20s elsewhere, the U.S. Weather Bureau said.

Rainfall is expected to end over the state by tonight as the cold front moves out of the area.

Some areas of Northwest Arkansas were reporting light snow this morning but no accumulation was expected.

Highs Sunday ranged from 44 at Little Rock to 50 at Fayetteville and El Dorado.

Overnight lows included 35 at Fayetteville, 36 at Harrison, 38 at Little Rock, 40 at Jonesboro, 42 at Fort Smith and Texarkana, and 46 at El Dorado.

Groundhog Fails to See His Shadow

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa. (AP) — It'll be an early spring this year, according to Punxsutawney Phil, the weather-forecasting groundhog. He declined for the first time in 20 years to look at his shadow, thus decreeing an end to winter weather.

As tradition has it, if Phil emerges from his burrow and sees his shadow, he returns to wait out six more weeks of winter.

Officials Wonder If Head Start Program Is Going the Right Way

By GARYN HUGHES
AP Education Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Head Start, the federal program designed to increase opportunities for children of the poor, nears the beginning of its fifth year with its top officials wondering whether it's headed in the right direction.

In human terms, Head Start has brought special training in cleanliness, nutrition and health to more than 200,000 preschool children annually. There have been eye-opening field trips for youngsters who had never been out of spacial neighborhoods.

And there have been a myriad of other activities intended to give the disadvantaged children an even break.

In this and, just over one billion dollars has been budgeted since the program began in 1965. Yet it has become increasingly clear that the money and the good will behind Head Start have not been enough. Head Start still is trying to get in the ground.

"We must institute a work-study plan and abandon the play-at-home plan of prison reform," Brown told a Jayce awards banquet.

Charge Filed in Auto Accident

Powell Loses Bid to Get Money

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court rejected today an attempt by Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., to recover the $55,000 in congressional pay he lost when he was excluded from the 90th Congress.

The court also declined to establish Powell's right to seek recovery of the $25,000 fine he paid in January 1969 as a condition to taking his seat in the 91st Congress.

The court had left these issues unsettled last June when it ruled 7 to 1 that Congress acted unconstitutionally in unseating the Harlem Negro Democrat.

Federal Judge George L. Hart Jr. of the District of Columbia ruled subsequently that Powell would have to prove he has "clean hands" before he may recover the lost pay. This means lawyers for the House would have a chance to argue that at least part of the $55,000 should be withheld on grounds Powell had misappropriated at least $46,000 in government funds.

Powell's lawyers then petitioned the Supreme Court, insisting that since the exclusion had been held illegal, its consequences—loss of pay, the fine and also the loss of his 22 years' seniority—were also illegal and must be rectified.

But the justices turned down their appeal and request for a hearing without comment except the notation that Chief Justice Warren E. Burger did not participate in the case.

Powell has been paying the fine at the rate of $1,150 a month deducted from his House pay check.

$61 Million for Arkansas Waterways

WASHINGTON (AP) — Arkansas is slated to receive about $61 million in President Nixon's proposed budget for operation, planning and construction of water projects by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers. The budget was presented to Congress today.

Nixon has recommended that Congress provide $1,565,000,000 for the Army Engineers and the Reclamation Bureau.

The major Army Engineer project in Arkansas is the opening of the Arkansas River for navigation. The river is now open from the Mississippi River to the Oklahoma state line, with the final leg to be completed in Oklahoma late this year.

Construction of Dams and locks on the Arkansas received the largest allocation, $25,333,000, in the President's budget.

For work on the Ouachita and Black rivers, the President recommended $11,565,000.

Allies Claim Killing 500 Cong Troops

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — Allied forces claimed they killed more than 500 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops over the weekend in the heaviest fighting in six months. The allies reported 21 Americans and 20 South Vietnamese killed, with 160 Americans and 99 South Vietnamese wounded in more than 100 enemy rocket, mortar and ground attacks.

U.S. military spokesmen, assessing the battlefield reports, said the enemy command had launched a pre-Tet "highpoint" of activity along the populous coastal lowlands south of Da Nang and in the Central Highlands.

Two American helicopters were downed, with five U.S. and six South Vietnamese killed and seven Americans wounded.

The surge of enemy activity came only a few days before the 40th anniversary Tuesday of the founding of the Vietnamese Communist party and the start Thursday of a four-day ceasefire that the Viet Cong proclaimed for Tet, the festival of the lunar new year.

The South Vietnamese government is expected to announce a 24-hour cease-fire in the next few days.

Allied intelligence officers had said they anticipated an increase in enemy attacks either before or after Tet. Such temporary increases, which fall short of a sustained, countrywide offensive, are called "highpoints" by intelligence officers.

Seventy enemy rocket and mortar attacks were reported Saturday night and another 44 Sunday night, the U.S. Command said. Most were centered in the Central Highlands and the coastal lowlands, and about two-thirds of them were directed at South Vietnamese troops and bases.

This service pays the salaries of the students on the job as well as for medical costs and any special equipment needed on the job. Most of the students are being placed, according to Mr. Richard Carter, the local teacher.

The program is set up with the cooperation of the Region VIII Education Service of Magnolia.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Census Bureau estimates that Arkansas' population rose 11 per cent to 1,995,000 in the period from April 1, 1960, to July 1, 1968.

According to the bureau's report, the number of persons 18 to 44 years old increased 20.4 per cent during the same period. The increase in the number of persons 65 and older was 16.2 per cent, the bureau said.

The median age group for the state was estimated 26.8 to 28.7. The median age group for the nation is 27.8.

of Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — Following are textual highlights of President Nixon's budget sent to Congress today:

I have pledged to the American people that I would submit a balanced budget for 1971. This today before Senate committee hearings on the nomination. The hearings are in their fourth, and possibly final session.

The budget I send to you today—the first for which I bear full responsibility as President—fulfills that pledge.

Outlays are estimated at $200.8 billion, with receipts at $202.1 billion, yielding a surplus of $1.3 billion.

For the first time in two full decades the federal government will spend more money on human resource programs than on national defense.

Revenues are estimated to be $202.1 billion in 1971, exceeding 1970 levels by only $2.7 billion. The small size of the increase reflects the termination of the income tax surtax and the provisions of the recently enacted Tax Reform Act of 1969.

Federal civilian employment—as measured by those in full-time permanent positions—will decline for the second consecutive year.

The 1971 budget was framed in a period of persistent price rises and is designed to help curb the inflation that has gripped our economy too long.

The 1971 budget shows a significantly different set of priorities from those contained in the budget presented by the previous administration a year ago.

Although 1971 outlays are $5.5 billion higher than the total proposed for 1970, they are $1.3 billion lower than the total proposed for 1971.

Same Family Operates Store Here 72 Years

For 72 years and 5 generations the Hope Furniture Company has been operated by the same family, the Hope Rotary Club learned from Rufus Herndon, Jr. last Friday at the Town and Country when he traced the history of the business from its purchase in 1898 by the speaker's great-grandfather, E.G. Porterfield.

With the help of old records, he pointed out interesting facts about the joint operation of a funeral service begun in 1899 with the purchase of a funeral carriage. It wasn't until 1916 that the first automobile hearse was put into local operation. As for the rise in prices, he said that the average funeral in 1912 cost $122; today, $1099.

Through his entire program, the speaker was able to inject a humorous note with stories from real life. Because of the tight "reins" on government, it is no longer feasible for the local funeral homes to continue with ambulance service. "So, beginning in February the local ambulance service will be in the hands of Perry Campbell, James Vess, and Larry Moses of Perrytown," the speaker said.

Before the program, Mack McLarty appeared with Bill Montgomery and Gordon McNulty of the U of A Razorbacks to invite everyone to the Sports Banquet that night at the Coliseum, President Benny Coleman welcomed two visiting Rotarians, John T. McRae of Prescott, and Tom Callan of Nashville, and several guests, John Gray and Bert Round, both of Little Rock, Rufus Herndon, III, Joe Matt Herndon, and Morris Harwell.

Conditions to Support of Highway Bonds

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS One of the conditions of Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller's support of a highway bond issue is that the proposal must be tied to a highway classification plan.

"I don't think the people would vote for a bond proposal unless they know where the money's going to be spent," Rockefeller said Saturday from Los Angeles in a telephone interview.

Truman Baker of Searcy, chairman of the state Highway Commission, said the commission would be willing to propose a classification plan.

The commission announced Wednesday that it would ask Rockefeller to put a highway bond issue in his call for a planned special session of the legislature next month. The legislature would have to pass legislation authorizing an election in which the voters would decide the proposal.

The governor had said he would put the proposal in his call if the commission justified the bonds.

GE Strikers Favor Pact in Early Returns

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Early returns from striking General Electric Co. employees voting on a proposed contract are in favor of the pact. But a majority of the 147,000 workers affected will not finish voting until Wednesday.

Picketing continues at some GE plants where local issues remain unsettled.

The contract offer, announced Thursday in New York by presidential mediator J. Curtis Counts, provided a wage hike of 61 cents an hour over 40 months, with a possible raise up to 82 cents under a cost-of-living clause.

The strike began Oct. 26, crippling GE production at 135 plants in 133 cities. The AFL-CIO called for a nationwide boycott of GE products.

In Fort Wayne, Ind., 4,000 of the 7,000 members of the Local 901 of the International Union of Electrical Workers, AFL-CIO, voted Sunday. Union officials said 97 per cent of those voting favored the proposal.

Two IUE locals in Pittsfield, Mass., voted overwhelmingly in favor of the settlement, union officials reported. The two locals represent 5,500 workers.

Officials said IUE Local 761 in Louisville, Ky., with 15,000 members voted narrowly in favor of the offer. No figures were available.

Bayou Bartholomew was recommended for $280,000 in planning funds and Bell Foley Reservoir for $10,000.

In addition, Nixon has asked for more than $79 million for flood control work on the Mississippi River and its tributaries.

If the budget is approved, Arkansas will share with Missouri a $4,300,000 allotment for construction on the St. Francis Basin. An additional $950,000 would be shared with Louisiana for Tensas Basin.

In other planning appropriations, Arkansas would receive: Lower White River, Big Creek and tributaries, $70,000; Lower White River, Clarendon Levee, $45,000 and for surveys, St. Francis River basin below Wapapello Reservoir, $60,000.

Rail Merger Approved by High Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court approved today merger of the Great Northern and Northern Pacific railroads.

In a 7-0 decision the court dismissed objections of the Justice Department and others, holding instead that the merger "furthers the development of a more efficient transportation unit."

The new company, called the Great Northern Pacific & Burlington, will have assets of $2.8 billion and more than 26,500 miles of track, stretching from Chicago to Seattle and from the Canadian border to the Gulf of Mexico.

The Justice Department had challenged the merger of two healthy directly competing railroads. But the Interstate Commerce Commission had given its blessing after the railroads took steps to protect the Chicago, Milwaukee railroad and workers who would lose their jobs.

what was hoped for, led the president last April to shift the program to a new office of Child Development in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW). It previously had been administered by the Office of Economic Opportunity (CEO).

"We believe this is going to strengthen the program in the long run," said Head Start Associate Director Richard Orton. Even so, Orton acknowledges that the chief emphasis in the immediate future is going to be on trying to figure out where the program goes from here.

"We're uncertain about a number of things," he said.

"What, precisely, should Head Start consist of to be most effective? For how long should help be given? What is the best age for it to be given?"

It will take years to get answers to these and other questions, Orton said. "We have some studies in progress now and we plan to start a number of others in the near future to find the answers."

Would Merge Tech Schools With Public

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — An employment specialist says that Arkansas should operate its vocational technical schools as part of its public high schools.

Samuel B. Burt of Washington, a staff consultant for the W. E. Upjohn Institute for Employment Research, said this would cost less to operate than the existing system of area trade schools.

"I am opposed to any expansion of area schools," he said. "Such training should be developed at the high school level."

Burt said almost every other state offered vocational technical training programs at the high school level. Arkansas' 10 trade schools provide one-year training programs for high school graduates.

The only clothesline you'll ever need.

Dry and sligh. You'll love the flameless electric dryer. Women prefer electric 2 to 1. Why? Because it's perfect for permanent press. It costs less to buy. Operates thriftily. Has fewer moving parts, so maintenance is low. And it's flameless. So you can dry your tears when you wash and dry better electrically. Housewives swear by it. No wonder. Most of the bright new ideas are electric.

Pope Places Authority at Stake

By EDWARD MACRI
Associated Press Writer
VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI has put his authority at stake by trying to muzzle the growing demand within the Roman Catholic church for an end to the requirement that all priests be celibate.

Far from moving toward a softening of the mandatory rule for clerical celibacy that he restated in a 1967 encyclical, the Pope on Sunday told the world's half billion Roman Catholics they should not even discuss a change in the rule.

Celibacy, he said in a stern and uncompromising speech, "is a capital law of our Latin church. It cannot be abandoned or put into discussion."

The speech was a pointed rebuke to the primates of the Netherlands, Bernard Cardinal Alfrink, and the six other Dutch bishops who had called publicly for a churchwide discussion of priestly celibacy after a council of Dutch priests and laymen voted overwhelmingly that sexual abstinence should no longer be mandatory for priests.

The Belgian primate, Leo Jozef Cardinal Suenens, joined the Dutch bishops in calling for debate on the issue.

Cardinal Alfrink announced on Jan. 19 that he would come to Rome "soon" to discuss the matter with the Pope. But the pontiff said his "no" without waiting to confer with the cardinal.

The Vatican is tensely waiting for the reaction of the Dutch bishops, for what one prelate called "the next round in the shadow boxing between Rome and Amsterdam."

Many prelates think an open break between the Pope and the Dutch Catholic Church is a real possibility.

"Will the controversy between Rome and the church of Holland on the issue of celibacy end up in schism?" Rome's Il Messaggero asked today.

"Schism does not need to be proclaimed solemnly to become a reality in today's church," wrote Milan's Corriere della Sera last week.

Others recalled the recent speech in which the Pope said that "condemnation and excommunication" could still be necessary "when serious circumstances require it."

Priestly celibacy is a 1,600-year-old tradition of the Western Catholic Church. In the Eastern Church, married men can become priests, but single or widowed priests cannot marry.

In the 19th century married men were still allowed to become priests in Western Europe, but they were prohibited "the use of their marital rights," as the New American Catholic Encyclopedia puts it. Single men who became priests could not marry. In 1975 Pope Gregory VII excluded married priests from all ecclesiastical functions.

St. Paul the Apostle, who never married, favored clerical celibacy although he allowed for married priests and bishops. In one of his letters he said married men were too busy pleasing their wives and could hardly spare time to be at the service of God.

Many in the church think that St. Paul's idea still holds true. Those who are against mandatory celibacy claim a celibate life deters many from becoming priests and causes serious psychological problems for today's priests. Most candidates for priesthood take on the lifelong bond of chastity when they are only 22 or 23.

Liberals point to the dropping rate of those choosing the priesthood and say that the trend might be reversed by scrapping the celibacy rule, especially in such areas as Latin America and Africa.

Pope Paul's warning came in those words: "I cannot think single life any longer has been 'disposition.' Upon request, a priest can easily get a permit to marry in the church but on the condition that he gives up all priestly activity."

In 1968, the year before Paul VI became Pope, the Vatican granted 300 dispensations. In 1969, there were 1,017.

Mass Transit Bill Debate in Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate lined up opening debate today on a bill sharply stepping up federal outlays to help cities with mass transit construction.

Passage is expected, possibly Tuesday, but not before some sharp floor fights. The measure authorizes $3.1 billion in contract authority for mass transit assistance.

However, it also imposes tight limitations on actual outlays of money in the light of the stringent federal budget situation.

The measure represents a compromise between sponsors, who sought a much bigger program, and the Nixon administration, which said top priority must be given to its anti-inflationary policy.

Freedoms Day Rallies in 12 Arkansas Cities

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Demonstrations were held in two Arkansas cities Saturday to protest "federal control of education."

The demonstrations, sponsored by Freedom Inc., were held at Texarkana and Forrest City. Between 500 and 1,000 persons turned out at Texarkana, and between 400 and 500 at Forrest City.

Freedom Inc., a Texarkana-based organization that advocates the "freedom-of-choice" method of desegregation, sponsored the demonstrations as part of a "national freedom day" it had proclaimed for Saturday.

Lynn Thomas, an officer of the Texarkana chapter of Freedom Inc., urged parents to keep their children out of schools Feb. 9, the day by which most Arkansas school systems will have completely desegregated their schools.

Thomas said another such protest boycott might be held after Feb. 9.

The Forrest City demonstrators marched six abreast from the Forrest City Civic center to the city library where they disbanded.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

THE POPULAR ARE ALMOST ALWAYS SUSPECT

Dear Helen: Our kids have a favorite teacher at school. He's tops with all the students—almost—because he makes learning fun, and he really teaches. He's honest, outspoken, original, and not one to abide by outdated school rules. In other words, he dislikes red tape and meaningless regulations. I know, because I've investigated.

You can guess what has happened. Stuffy individuals have complained to the school board. It seems that some people just can't stand it when a teacher is popular with young charges. He makes the kids think, so he is accused of filling their minds with "subversive material." He lets them discuss current events as THEY see them, and he's accused of "immorality."

He makes a basically dull required course—history, for instance—come alive, so much so that our son not only studies the text book but does outside reading on his own. Yet this man may lose his job, for "conformity" is God to our school board and principal.

His case will be reviewed at the next meeting. I understand by the grapevine. What can be done?—FURIOUS

Dear Furious: School board meetings are open to the public. See to it that champions of this teacher (both students and adults) attend in great number—and that you know all the facts. If you present a solid case for inspired teaching, you can throw the complainers for a row of dunces caps!—H.

Dear Helen: My husband and I have been good friends with a certain couple for two years. Suddenly they cooled. Then the wife called me to explain. She said my husband made several passes at her, and when she told HER husband, they decided to call it quits with us.

I asked my man about this and he says she is lying. He offered to face them, but somehow there's always an excuse for not going. The last time I asked him to stop these rumors with a show-down he got mad and said he'd heard the last of this in our house.

I won't play second fiddle to any woman, even if I DO love my husband. Why shouldn't he face her if he's innocent?—QUESTIONER

Dear Questioner: Counter-question: Who would you rather trust—the man you love or an outsider who might have initiated the "passes" . . . or be resentful because he didn't cozy up?

"Facing her" won't prove anything, so let accusing females lie and get on with your marriage!—H.

Dear Helen: I was a health food nut and that's how come my marriage broke up seven years ago. I got over it. Next time around I'll eat whatever my wife puts in front of me, emphasis on steak and potatoes and apple pie.

Well, my "ex" came back to town and we realized we still care. Last night she invited me over for dinner—and served the health foods I now hate! Said she'd done a lot of research and this is the only way to live a long and happy life. What do I do now?—KARL

Dear Karl: Level with her—and strike a compromise: Steak with stone ground flour in the gravy.—H.

How does a boy who grew up as a Boy Scout and a confirmed churchgoer end up as a bewitched?

After a wedding trip the couple will be at home in Little Rock.

Southern Smilax and talisman satin ribbons.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown of candleglow Chantilly lace and peau satin. The skirt featured full-length panels of lace and satin with the two back panels forming a chapel train. The fitted bodice and long fitted sleeves were satin overlaid with lace and embroidered with seed pearl motifs that were repeated the length of the two front panels. A wide satin cummerbund accented the waistline.

Her cathedral length veil of imported silk illusion was appliqued with scallops of Chantilly lace and fell from the dome of a Chantilly lace pill box embroidered with seed pearls. The bride carried a bouquet of orchid, roses and stephanotis atop a bible covered with Chantilly lace.

Darla Wineland was maid of honor, Diana Shepard was bridesmaid and Cynthia Hutson of Hope, cousin of the bride was junior bridesmaid. The attendants wore identical floor length gowns of candleglow silk organza and brown silk faille. The fitted bodice of organza featured flowing Bishop sleeves and Peter Pan collar with a full skirt of brown faille. A cummerbund of brown faille formed the Empire waistline. Their headresses were Dior bows of brown faille, and they carried lighted candles in the shape and color of talisman roses tied with Southern smilax and talisman satin ribbons.

Flower girls were Beth Ann Bowman of Kansas City, Missouri cousin of the bride and Suzanne Steed, cousin of the bridegroom. They wore identical candleglow silk organza dresses with fitted bodice and short gathered skirts tied with brown silk faille sashes. Bridesmaids of sweetheart talisman roses were pinned in their hair. Natural wicker baskets were filled with talisman petals and tied with talisman satin ribbons.

Wilton E. Steed, Jr. cousin of the bridegroom, was best man. Richard Warriner was groomsmen and Stuart Douglas of Conway, brother of the bridegroom was junior groomsmen.

Immediately after the wedding a reception was held in the Fellowship Hall.

The brides table was covered with a white silk cloth trimmed with bands of white satin ribbon and satin fabric roses. A bridal arrangement of talisman roses centered the table. Serving from the silver punch bowl was Betty Sue Rhodes of Ashdown, cousin of the bride.

Members of the house party included Elsie Carey, of Pine Bluff; Beth Hartz of Stuttgart; Mary Milbourn of Pine Bluff and Theresa Morgan of Shreveport, Louisiana. Mrs. Joe Bowman of Kansas City, Missouri cousin of the bride, kept the brides book.

Among the out of town wedding guests from Hope were Mr. and Mrs. H.W. Hatcher, grandparents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Austin Hutson and daughter Cynthia, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Beyerley and Mr. and Mrs. Hulan White. From Ashdown Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Rhodes and daughter Betty Sue. From Kansas City, Missouri Mrs. M. J. Dillard, Mrs. Joe Bowman and daughters Beth Ann and Jennifer and Mr. and Mrs. Dewain Bolton and sons James and Andy of Shreveport.

After a wedding trip the couple will be at home in Little Rock.

Porsche Wins First Skirmish With Ferrari

By BLOYS BRITT
AP Auto Racing Writer

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Porsche of Germany, with crafty Britisher John Wyer at the helm, has won its first skirmish with the Ferrariworks of Italy in a new battle for supremacy in the world of endurance racing.

Wyer, using a combination of brilliant driver assignments and quick pit work, brought two of his powerful new Porsche 917s home to a 1-2 finish in the Daytona 24 Hours Sunday, and in the process put a damper on Ferrari's return to sports car racing after a two-year absence.

The lead car was driven by Mexico's Pedro Rodriguez, a 30-year-old veteran of 10 years in the sport, and Leo Kinnunen, a 26-year-old rookie from Finland whose only previous experience was in lighter machinery.

The No. 2 Porsche was driven by Jo Siffert, a wily 34-year-old veteran from Switzerland, and Brian Redman, 33, a gentleman sports car buff from England.

The Rodriguez-Kinnunen pair completed 2,758 miles over the rugged 3.81-mile Daytona International Speedway track and road course at a record speed of 114.866 miles per hour. They finished 171 miles in front.

Wyer, a 49-year-old engineer-builder who has been in racing 25 years, was hired late last year to take charge of Porsche's 1970 bid for a second straight world constructor's title.

He had won Le Mans twice with ragged old Ford GT40s and the world endurance title once. And he was available for new duty because the GT40s were to be retired for lack of parts.

The new 12-cylinder, 600 horsepower Porsche 917s were introduced last summer in time to polish off the Germans' first endurance title.

Ferrari quit sports car racing in 1967 after the FIA raised the engine limits for group 4 engines to five liters. This year, the Italian works built 25 new 512s to meet homologation rules and five of them got to Daytona without the benefit of adequate testing.

One of them, driven by U.S. champion Mario Andretti and Belgian Jacky Ickx, tried valiantly to prevent the Porsche sweep. Despite uncountable troubles with such things as weak suspension, Andretti had the car in second place with only five minutes to go.

But Siffert caught him on Daytona's long back stretch as 35,570 chilled spectators cheered. Siffert and Redman completed 670 laps for 2,570 miles, shading the previous record set by Lloyd Rudy and the late Ken Miles in 1966 in a GT40 that Wyer later inherited.

The Rodriguez-Kinnunen Porsche ran flawlessly. Siffert and Redman, however, had their problems all the way and Wyer's pit work was their salvation.

At the end, the orange and blue second place car was being held together with adhesive tape and had spent almost two hours undergoing repairs.

The Ferrari problems were almost insurmountable. The one assigned to Andretti, Ickx and Italy's young Arturo Merzario spent more than an hour in the pits during the final six hours having suspension components repaired.

Quick Return on Racing Investment

There's nothing like a quick return on your investment, and Inokalee, a 3-year-old colt, produced just that for A.H. and A.M. Stall.

Inokalee, purchased by the Stalls from Peter Fuller last Friday, won the $22,650 Francis Scott Key Stakes Saturday at Bowie by two lengths over J.B. Farm's favored Rollbacking, with David Shuer's Misty Brave third.

John Baboolal sent Inokalee, who carried 113 pounds to 124 for Rollbacking, over the six furlongs in 1:11 3/5 for first money of $14,722 and a winning mutual payoff of $12.

Emmanuel Mittman's French-fred Vent du Nord carried 115 pounds over 1 1/16 miles in a turf course record-setting 1:41 in winning the $92,150 Palm Beach Handicap.

11 Games Welcomed by Coach Broyles

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — A spokesman for the University of Arkansas sports department said Sunday that Coach Frank Broyles is pleased with the Southwest Conference's decision to allow an 11th game next season.

Coach Broyles was in Texas on a recruiting trip and was unavailable for comment. Jim Bell, sports information director, said that prior to the decision by the SWC Sunday, Coach Broyles had discussed the possibility of an early match with several schools.

Bell mentioned Oklahoma, Missouri, Air Force, Oregon State and Penn State as possibilities for the 11th game. Bell said that Broyles would like to play the game in Little Rock somewhere around Sept. 12.

More Taken Into Baseball Hall of Fame

By ROBERT MOORE
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Ford C. Frick, the former commissioner, and a couple of players who sparked in baseball's spotlight four decades ago have been elected to the Hall of Fame.

The ex-players are center fielder Earle Combs of the New York Yankees and knuckleball pitcher Jesse "Pop" Haines.

The three, all in their 70s, were elected to the Hall Sunday by the Old Timers Selection Committee. Together with Lou Boudreau, they will be enshrined in the Hall in Cooperstown, N.Y. next July.

Frick, 75, was honored for his contributions to baseball as a long-time executive who served from 1934 until his retirement in 1965.

Frick did not become eligible until he resigned Sunday morning as chairman of the selection committee.

Frick joined the National League in 1933 as a member of its publicity staff and a year later was named league president. He held that post until he became commissioner in 1951.

As commissioner, Frick said the baseball expansion program and founding of the Hall of Fame were among the most notable achievements of his tenure. He termed the Hall's establishment as "one of the greatest things that ever happened to baseball."

Combs is now 70. He was the leadoff hitter on some of the Yankees' greatest clubs in the 1920s. Often, he was on base when Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig or Tony Lazzeri came to bat.

Joe Cronin, American League president and a member of the selection committee, described Combs as the "tablesetter for Ruth and Gehrig."

Combs batted left-handed and threw right. He collected more than 200 hits in a season three times and scored more than 100 runs eight years in succession from 1925 through 1932, hit more than 300 eight times with a high of 356 in 1927.

John Elchler With Cowboys

DALLAS (AP) — John Elchler, backup quarterback at the University of Arkansas, has signed as a free agent with the Dallas Cowboys, the National Football League club said Saturday.

Elchler started as a sophomore for the Razorbacks until he broke a bone in his foot. In his junior and senior years, the 6-foot-2, 200-pounder was the backup man for Bill Montgomery.

PHOTO TIP — From Linda Kohl, a 17-year-old student at Iowa State and one of the winners in Kodak's teen photography contest this summer. "Go to the movies," advises Linda, "and look at photographs in magazines to get ideas to improve your composition. Different angles help—get down low or up high to take your picture, or frame them with an arch."

WINTER WISHES—Wish we could hand out Johnny Winter's supermash LP, Second Winter, to everyone who wrote in with a good reason for wanting it, but what with almost 800 requests, it can't be done. We'll pass along one more, though, to Alice Johnson, of Antioch, Ill., who told us she wanted the record so she could give it to her kids "so they'll see that mom isn't so square after all." Knew it all along, but if the kids need convincing, we'll supply some.

OLD AND NEW—Speaking of Johnny Winter, one of his favorite haunts is the Beekman Arms in Rhinebeck, N.Y., which has been rocking along since 1700 and claims to be the oldest inn in America. But they're used to famous customers—George Washington and Aaron Burr used to hang out there, too.

STILL SUPREME—Will the Supremes lose some of their supremeness, what with Diana Ross leaving the act? Nope, or so says Jules Podell, owner of New York's Copacabana, where the Supremes are on the bill starting April 16. Advance bookings are running so strong that special shows are being added so that everyone will have a chance to listen to the Motown Misses.

PLAY ON—Seems there's a group called Marvin Gardens and the Boardwalkers (lifted from the good old Monopoly set, which has been around since 1934). Old name, new sound.

BOOK NOOK—O.K., our next-to-last copy of Ellen Peck's "How to Get a Teenage Boy and What to Do With Him When You Get Him" goes to somebody known as Distressed in La Crosse, Wis. (don't sign your name—see if I care). Good old Distressed writes that she has "tried hard, but it's hopeless. I've asked some of my girl friends what they would do, but their ideas don't work either." Nothing is hopeless, says Youth Beat.

Defense Pact

In 1280 B.C., the Hittites and the Egyptians concluded the first nonaggression and mutual defense pact in world history. The good understanding was cemented at top level by the marriage of Ramesses II to a Hittite princess.

Oswald: "Sometimes the beginner will do better than an average player."

Jim: "Let's see how a beginner might play today's hand. He would win the spade lead and go right after clubs. Since he wouldn't know about finesses his ace of clubs would drop West's queen and our beginner would wind up with nine tricks."

Oswald: "The beginner might not reach game but the expert would with 18 high-card points and a five-card suit. He would be a trifle too strong for a one no-trump opening but he would rebid in no-trump and get to game. He would duck the first spade but win the continuation. Then he would play his ace and king of clubs in order to see if the queen would drop. It would drop and he would play on and hope to find some way to collect an overtrick."

Jim: "This would be an example of expert rubber bridge technique. Expert South would be trying every way to make his contract. He would still have the diamond finesse left as an extra play in case the club queen failed to drop."

Oswald: "A player who started by trying the diamond finesse would be giving up the extra chance of picking up a doubleton queen of clubs while a player who tried the club finesse first would be giving up the chance of finding West with the king of diamonds."

Jim: "Of course the expert would go down two tricks instead of one in case the queen of clubs didn't drop but the extra chance for the contract is well-worth that extra risk."

THE WELL CHILD

Cleanliness at Meals Of Paramount Importance

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q—I am a middle-aged baby sitter. Can you tell me why children rebel at washing their hands before meals? They say, "Mamma doesn't make us wash." What should I tell them?

A—To seek any kind of excuse not to wash before meals or any other time seems to be universal in children. They take the attitude: "If it works, why not misquote mamma?" You may tell them for me that coming to the table with dirty hands could cause them to get an infection, but I doubt that that will impress them.

Q—Friends have a baby girl. The father can't stand for the baby to cry and, when she does, he puts one of his fingers in her mouth to suck. Isn't this unsanitary?

A—Not if his hands are clean. Besides, babies very quickly build up an immunity to most of the germs in their surroundings. Of course, an old-fashioned pacifier would be a more acceptable alternative.

Q—Is it true that using a pacifier delays a child's learning to talk? Does it cause deformity of the mouth?

"If you want to know what's happening to our country, listen to this: For sale, love seat, by politically polarized couple!"

"Shoplifter, phooey! Women run around half-naked without being bothered... but I get arrested for being over-dressed!"

THE BORN LOSER

QUICK QUIZ BLONDIE

Q—Who is the only baseball manager to have had pennant winners in both major leagues?
A—Joe McCarthy. McCarthy's Chicago Cubs won in 1929 and his New York Yankee teams won in 1932, 1936-39 and 1941-43.

Q—What bean is often called the "bean of history"?
A—The horse bean because it was an important food to the early civilizations of northern Africa and southwestern Asia, where it grows wild.

Buenos Aires Train Wreck Kills 100

By WILLIAM H. HEATH
Associated Press Writer
BUENOS AIRES (AP) — A speeding cross-country express slammed into the rear of a halted suburban train near Buenos Aires Sunday night, killing more than 100 persons in one of the worst railroad disasters in history.

Ninety-eight bodies had been taken to police stations by midnight and five suburban hospitals had received a number of others.

Railway officials estimated that more than 150 persons were killed and more than 400 injured.

Officials of the state-owned Argentine Railways Co. said the 21-car express en route from the northern city of San Miguel de Tucuman to Buenos Aires plowed into the rear of a 10-car suburban train which had stopped about a mile from a lonely stop on the pampa 25 miles west of the capital. The suburban train was jammed with passengers returning to Buenos Aires from a summer weekend in the country.

It was the worst train wreck in Argentine history. The worst ever recorded occurred at Modane, France, on Dec. 12, 1917, when 543 persons were killed in the derailment of a passenger train.

There was no official explanation for the crash.

An unofficial report said a signalman failed to warn the express, which was moving at an estimated 65 miles an hour, that the local train was stopped in its path. Another report said the express had been accidentally switched onto the same track as the local.

Officials of the General Mitre Line, which operated both of the trains, said the local train carried about 1,000 passengers and the express about 400.

Q. I have just become self-employed and want to pay the social security self-employment tax. Do I report myself quarterly, paying both shares of the tax?

A. No. As a self-employed individual you pay 6.9 per cent on up to $7800 of your net profit for the year. This is paid at the end of your taxable year when you file your income tax return, or paid on a quarterly basis on the basis of your estimated income.

Q. I got a social security card for my daughter when she was 5 years old. She is now 18. Does she need another card?

A. No. She will use the same number all her life. When she marries, she should get her name changed on the card, but she will keep the same number.

Q. My son is 17 years old and has been receiving social security benefits. He got married and his checks were stopped, even though he is not 18 years old and still in school. Is this correct?

A. Yes. A child's benefit is terminated when the child marries regardless of age or school attendance.

Q. A friend told me that you no longer accept delayed birth certificates for evidence of age. What should I do? My delayed birth certificate is all I have.

A. We do give weight to delayed birth certificates in establishing proof of age, however, a birth or baptismal record recorded before age five is preferred, and if available, must be obtained. If none exists, the delayed birth certificate is acceptable but one other document showing your age or date of birth may be necessary. Your social security representative will advise you if you need other proof of age; don't delay seeing him.

Q. Will I be covered by Medicare when I become 65 although my husband isn't 65 yet? I do draw a social security check on his record.

A. Yes, you will be eligible for Medicare at age 65. You will receive a card to fill out 2 or months before you reach age 65.

for the first time in official history, the President and Congress have agreed to a five-year look ahead to see how much room for new programs will be allowed by rising federal revenues. The conclusion: Not much.

Despite a $1.4 trillion national debt in 1970, compared with $917 billion last year and an estimated $945 billion this year, there will be only a $22 billion "new egg" to finance all new programs begun now and then, the President said. For 1973 there is "little if any margin."

Even the $22 billion may never materialize, Nixon added. The uncertainty of long-range economic forecasts and unforeseen foreign tensions "could easily alter these projections to show no future resources for discretionary action."

A constant problem will be presented in shifting funds from low-priority uses to currently more essential needs, he said, adding that the process now has begun.

The budget asked $1.3 billion for crime reduction, about twice the 1969 total. This included a $190 million increase in outlays for grants to the states through the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration.

Expansion of federal subsidies to the airport and airways systems was urged.

The added costs, Nixon said, would be financed by the requested increases in user charges, including higher taxes on aviation fuel and airfreight cargoes.

These were among the major agencies which will get less money in fiscal 1971 than in the current year:

Agriculture department, $8 billion, down $450 million; Commerce department, $1 billion, down $64 million; Interior, $913 million, down $251 million; Treasury, $19.1 billion, down $41 million; Atomic Energy Commission, $2.4 billion, down $50 million.

The following agencies were asked for increases from their 1970 outlays:

Department of Housing and Urban Development, $3.3 billion, up $541 million; Department of Health, Education and Welfare, $59.7 billion, up $7 billion largely because of increased social insurance payments; Justice Department, $895 million, up $242 million; Labor Department, $5.6 billion, up $1.3 billion; State Department, $473 million, up $26 million; Department of Transportation, $7 billion, up $375 million.

The President appealed for faster congressional action on appropriation bills. Most of the fiscal 1970 money bills were not completed until December, nearly six months after the fiscal year began, he said, and two were left waiting for the new session of Congress.

Nixon proposed Congress consider changing the government's fiscal year to correspond with the calendar year, "perhaps with new appropriations scheduled to begin January 1 rather than July 1."

Savings of more than $2.1 billion are scheduled for 1971, Nixon said, by terminating, reducing, or restructuring old federal programs which are "of low priority relative to the amount of tax money needed to support them."

Among the programs to be killed—if Congress agrees—are:

—The special milk program of the Agriculture Department supplementary to the school lunch program, for a saving of $64 million in 1971 and $84 million in the first full year of the termination.

—The cost-sharing conservation program of the Agriculture Department, aiding farmers with the costs of terracing, contour planting and other antierosion practices. Saving, $66 million in 1971 and $317 million in the first full year thereafter.

—Selected reserve training by the Coast Guard, to save $15 million in fiscal 1971, $25 million in a full year.

The total of programs thus tagged for termination was $300 million. Another $436 million worth were proposed for reduction, including:

—The Apollo-lunar exploration program of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, down $277 million.

—Production of NASA launch vehicles and spacecraft, down $125 million in 1971 and $500 million in the first full year thereafter.

By restructuring other programs, Nixon said, an additional $1.396 billion could be saved
